

ABSTRACT

A connectable bucket tappet having a ring shaped section and avoiding a receiving element for a coupling device which was previously joined thereto in a single piece. A separate, sleeve-shaped component is arranged near the base of the ring shaped section. The component is used for sectionally accommodating a slider for coupling the ring shaped section to a central circular section.